Author discusses book written about Elba's Johnny Dyess during Tuesday, March 6, Rotary Club meeting

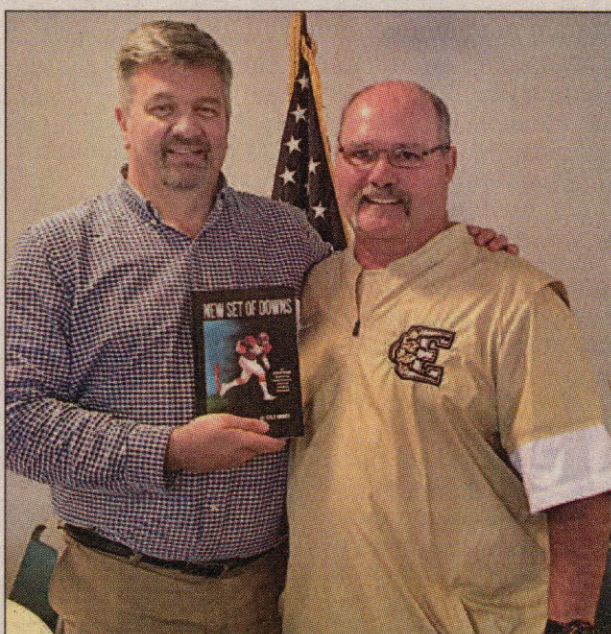

Book author Kyle Mooty spoke Tuesday, March 6, at the Elba Rotary Club meeting.

Mooty was joined by Elba's own Johnny Dyess, the subject of his new book, New Set of Downs, which chronicles the highs and lows of the former Alabama football player.

Mooty shared excerpts of the new book, which he said should be arriving from the printer any day now, with the Elba Rotarians.

The book is described as follows:

From a small-town football star to walking on and playing four remarkable seasons under the legendary "Bear" Bryant at Alabama; returning home only to get involved in the drug culture and becoming a meth addict; cooking the drug; painting at Times Square Church in New York City; and eventually carrying out God's word. New Set of Downs takes us through Dyess' glory years on the gridiron, as well as many dark locations, including a warehouse in Atlanta where he carried a large gun to protect himself during a drug deal. A dozen years later, Dyess was actually saved by people from ironically the Auburn/Opelika area, home of his most bitter rival from the gridiron. Just a country boy from South Alabama, he was given life-restoring advice from as far away as New York City, eventually returning home to face the legal music. It was capped off by a full pardon from the board of the Alabama Pardon and Paroles Department. Today, Dyess speaks of his unrelenting faith to high schools, church groups and more, and he is enjoying life as an assistant football coach at his high school alma mater.

Author Kyle Mooty, left, is shown with Elba's Johnny Dyess at the Elba Rotary Club meeting Tuesday of this week. The two men spoke at the meeting about Mooty's book "New Set of Downs" which is based on Dyess' life.

Coffee County BOE moves forward with New Brockton Elementary School kitchen project

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Board of Education met Thursday, March 1, at noon for the board's regular monthly meeting, and steps were taken to move a step forward with the New Brockton Elementary kitchen additions project.

This project had been re-bid, and superintendent Terry Weeks said the low bid came from general contractor BCS from Brundidge, Ala. The overall bid included a base bid with an alternate one and alternate two, and this total was $1,070,912.

Weeks said the architect for the project said the base bid with alternate one was considered to be reasonable for the current market value. However, the architect recommended rejected the alternate two bid - for kitchen equipment - from BCS and re-bidding this separately from the construction.

Based on the architect's suggestions, Weeks recommended board members approve the base bid for construction at $772,470 with the alternate one bid for sewage line work at $7,150 for a total bid cost of $779,620. This was approved with no opposition.

Weeks said all entities involved agreed the system would most likely get better prices by bidding the kitchen equipment separately from the construction project.

Looking at the next item on the meeting agenda, Weeks said school safety and security had certainly become a forefront issue due to recent school shootings across the nation.

"We have been proactive the past few years here already thanks to the board's actions," the superintendent said. "Much progress had already been made [in the Coffee County Schools]."

Weeks said the schools already have video surveil-

Elba utility bill takes giant jump upward

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

UTILITY BILLS are a subject of discussion almost as often as the weather.

Like the weather these bills can be as earth shattering as a major hurricane or an earthquake. However few have horror stories to match the above bill received this month by an Elba resident.

The residents of the mobile home said they were pleased last month to only have a $10 bill, following the rebate all Elba utility users received. However on Monday of this week they were willing to forgo any more rebates if it was going to result in bills like this the next month.

The balance due on March bill from the City of Elba, as shown, is an unbelievable $10,696.48!

Worse, (if possible) while reading the bill, the residents discovered that if not paid by the regular March 15th deadline the penalty would increase the total owed by almost $1,500!

"I haven't written my on epitaph, and I'm not sure I should. Whatever it is, I hope it will be simple, and that it will point people not to me, but to the One I served." — Billy Graham

More people die in the U. S. each year from drug overdose (addiction) than in the Vietnam War and every war since then. About 64,000 people died from drug overdoses in 2016 alone. More than 40,000 of these deaths were due to opioids. The word "opioids" is new to us (and our computer spell checker) but obviously not to the medical world and the addicts that are now blaming the doctors for their addiction. We have no doubt that some people got their first taste of the addictive drugs from a doctor trying to help them overcome some pain. However, many of them became addicts because they "liked" the initial high and/or calmness they felt from the drugs. Only too late did they learn just how addictive the stuff really is to humans. Amusing thing is that some studies show that rats will avoid the drugs if they can find other things to eat. Score another one for the rodents!

Tuesday of this week was National Oreo Day. First sold in 1912, the cookie became the best-selling cookie in the U. S. Our household is one of the reasons for that success. The parents liked (and still enjoy) the tasty chocolate treat with the cream in the middle and the love quickly passed on to our children. Once on a family trip we had to make an emergency stop because a child was crying (loudly) for an Oreo and our stash of snacks was in the trunk of the car. As we were scrambling to get the trunk open, we overheard some folks parked near us commenting, "Oh we remember those days." Kinda wish we could hear those demands again ourselves.

We are at a loss of words dealing with the $10,000-plus residential bill one of our Elba citizens received this week. It would be funny to most of us . . . unless we were the person getting a utility bill for anything like that amount of money. Actually, personally, a $1,000 utility bill would instantly create a candidate for a major heart attack at our house. We now do the obvious and encourage utility management folks to take a bit more time, do a bit more investigating, etc., before exposing Elba residents to more defective equipment. Saving money is a noble cause, but at what cost? Along with the embarrassment with these mistakes making headlines two months in a row, the next piece of flawed equipment could easily lead to employees or other citizens being electrocuted. Decision makers should adopt a motto of, "Not on my watch" — and back it up with their actions.

Several weeks ago we reported that Elba High's new football coach, Pate Harrison had won a state championship at his last school. Actually his team was runner-up in that exchange. Several dedicated football fans have pointed this out, with some noting they actually attended and event and described it as an "ultra exciting game". Now that is the textbook fact on this matter, but folks he is still a winner in our book. Of course his parents, long time friends of ours in New Brockton, will surely agree with that opinion.

There are several states in the U. S. toying with the idea of requiring work from people qualified for Medicaid payments. Now we like the idea of people capable of working, doing their part and not sitting around sucking off society. However let us quickly add that we have seen people who are a danger to themselves and others with any kind of tool, etc. Therefore there has to be some way to write those rules to let those inept folks sit around and do nothing . . . or find someone to train them in the correct way to "walk and chew gum at the same time."

A turning point for Alabama Republicans' direction, identity

Editorial by Todd Stacy

Don't misinterpret Democratic Senator Doug Jones's recent election win as a paradigm shift in Alabama politics.

The Republican Party still holds sway in the state: all statewide constitutional offices are held by Republicans; all nine Supreme Court justices are Republicans; and both chambers of the state legislature are ruled by significant Republican majorities. The GOP's dominance in Alabama isn't likely to abate any time soon given the state's deep conservative beliefs. However, the failure to elect a Republican to fill Jeff Sessions' Senate seat is exposing some internal disagreements as to the party's direction and identity in the years ahead, and a turning point in that struggle might come soon.

Disagreements between different factions in the Republican Party are nothing new. There has always been a struggle for influence between fiscal and social conservatives, defense hawks and libertarians, and steady-as-she-goes establishment Republicans and burn-it-to-the-ground tea party types. Tension between those of differing beliefs within the "big tent" is natural and probably healthy. But, disagreement over the Roy Moore election debacle is threatening to turn into disunion.

A few in the mostly-older, activist faction are still bitter over the loss and focusing their ire on U.S. Sen. Richard Shelby, who said he could not vote for Moore and would write-in a "distinguished Republican" after multiple allegations of sexual abuse and misconduct by Moore were reported by The Washington Post. A group led by former Cleburne County GOP Chairman Tim Sprayberry is floating a party resolution condemning Shelby for his stance and recently joined with a Texas investor to run robocalls critical of Alabama's senior senator. Most believe the resolution will go nowhere given Shelby's broad support throughout Alabama and immense influence in Washington, to say nothing of how out of touch Republicans would look doubling down on the kind of politics that help cost them the Senate seat in the first place. Many conservatives are thanking Shelby for his principled stand, understanding that the election loss, while disappointing in the short term, is probably in the best interest of the party over the long term because it can be rid of Moore's political baggage. Still, Sprayberry isn't giving up.

The ALGOP now faces a difficult choice. If it appeases the pro-Moore faction's desire to criticize Shelby, it will alienate two groups it can ill afford to do without: those who invest in the Republican party and those who are its future. Big benefactors in Republican politics have not been shy about pushing back against the anti-Shelby resolution. Jimmy Rane, founder, president and CEO of Great Southern Wood called Shelby "one of Alabama's greatest assets" and publicly asked "why is the Alabama Republican Party doing nothing to help maximize Senator Shelby's effectiveness" as likely incoming chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

"We ought to commend the courage of our senior Senator and enthusiastically support him as he prepares to pick up the gavel of the Appropriations Committee of the United States Senate," he wrote.

Rane knows what he's talking about. Most people don't realize that before he built one of Alabama's most iconic and successful companies, Rane once worked as a congressional staffer on Capitol Hill. He understands how Washington works and what awesome benefits Alabama could realize with Shelby assuming the Appropriations chairmanship.

Of course, now Rane is the state's wealthiest man and a major contributor to Republican candidates and causes. For him to publicly and specifically call on the ALGOP to drop this resolution is hugely significant.

The future of the party is also pushing back. Young Republicans by and large disagree with the idea of censuring Shelby for his stance on Moore - a stance many of its membership held themselves.

The 40-and-under Young Republican Federation of Alabama withdrew its support for Roy Moore in November, and the Birmingham Young Republicans voted to censure the Senate candidate saying it was "committed to protecting women and children from similar acts of sexual misconduct."

Jackie Curtiss, state chair of the Young Republicans, said the ALGOP should be focused on winning future elections, not haggling over the last one.

"Instead of learning lessons from the Doug Jones win, some would rather go to infighting and assigning blame," she said. "You have a handful of people in the party who are stirring up controversy, but there are also many of us who want to defend Senator Shelby and make sure the party moves forward. Young Republicans want the party to be unified because that's our best chance to win the seat back in 2020."

The funders and the future of the Republican Party want to move past this dust up and focus on the upcoming 2018 elections.

Regan Davis awarded rank of Eagle Scout at recent ceremony

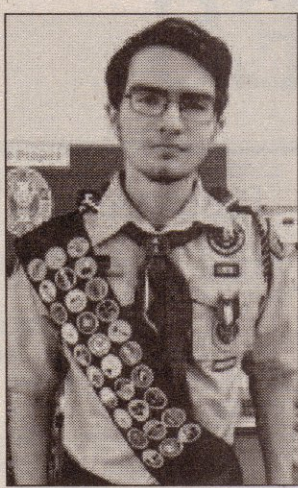

Reagan Alexander Davis of Cumming, Georgia, was awarded the rank of Eagle Scout at his Court of Honor held Sunday, Feb. 25, at Sharon Springs Park.

Reagan is the 16-year-old son of Robert and Ginny Davis, of Cumming, and the grandson of Betty Rogers, of Elba. He is a member of Etowah District Boy Scout Troop 39, chartered by VFW Post 9143.

Reagan's scouting experience began when he joined Cub Scout Pack 207 as a first grader at Daves Creek Elementary School. While in Pack 207, Reagan was a Webelos Super Achiever, earned his religious knot, and earned Cub Scouting's highest award, the Arrow of Light, before crossing over to join Boy Scouts.

To earn Eagle rank, a Scout must earn at least 21 merit badges and demonstrate leadership and community service by organizing and carrying out an Eagle project. Reagan earned 30 merit badges and served as a Patrol Leader in the Troop and a Den Chief for Cub Scouts.

For his Eagle project, he was commissioned by the Forsyth County Historical Society and Mars Hill-

Eagle Scout
Regan Davis

Shiloh UMC Cemetery Association, Inc. to build a wooden informational kiosk for Mars Hill-Shiloh Cemetery that will be used to display a cemetery map and burial directory. The project was completed in August 2017.

Reagan is a junior at South Forsyth High School. He is a member of the Wind Symphony, the War Eagle Marching Band, and the Beta Club. He is enrolled in the Engineering Pathway/IB Certificate program.

Reagan plans to pursue a degree in engineering upon graduation from high school.

limited government, fighting for small business issues, and helping Coffee County grow and prosper without undue government overreach. He said he believes elected officials should be open, honest, transparent, and willing to listen to everyone's concerns.

"Everyone's voice matters," Reeves said.

He believes effective leadership entails the ability to listen, surrounding one's self with quality personnel, and always remembering the office and position is more important than one person. And, the most important aspect of effective leadership is that of servanthood, i.e. elected officials are to serve the people.

Reeves invites Coffee County citizens to join his team as he seeks to be the state representative for Coffee County.

"Together we can make a difference," he said.

The Republican Primary election is June 5, 2018 and the general election will be Nov. 6, 2018, and Reeves said he would be honored to have your support and vote. Anyone can follow him on Facebook at facebook.com/listerforstaterrep and also visit his website, listerreeves.com.

Zeigler set to speak at March 12 Republican event in Enterprise

State Auditor Jim Zeigler will speak to the Republican candidate forum in Coffee County on Monday, March 12, at 5:30 p.m., at the Enterprise Civic Center, 2401 Neil Metcalf Road.

The forum is hosted by Republican Women of Coffee County and the Coffee County Republican Club. Master of ceremonies will be Steve Flowers, a political columnist, commentator and historian. Zeigler has served three years as State Auditor and is running for a second term in the June 5 Republican primary.

Zeigler was a critic of former Gov. Robert Bentley, mounting challenges to what he called "mismanagement and abuse by the Bentley administration." He filed the initial ethics complaint against Bentley.

On April 5 of last year, the ethics commission found probable cause that Bentley committed felony violations, including Zeigler's complaint. Five days later, Bentley resigned.

Zeigler sued to invalidate the troubled STAARS software contract, claiming it was an illegal no-bid contract by the Bentley administration. The state then canceled the $47 million STAARS contract. Zeigler exposed Bentley's diversion of $1.8 million of BP settlement money to restore the governor's mansion at the beach. That action came a month after Bentley lost his own personal beach home in his divorce from his wife of 50 years.

After Bentley resigned,

Jim Zeigler

Zeigler was legally required to audit Alabama's three governor's mansions and the governor's office in the capitol. He located all items and produced four perfect audits. He found the infamous "Wanda's Desk," which had been moved by Bentley to keep a secretary from being able to hear goings-on in the governor's private office.

Zeigler's office is up-to-date on all audits despite suffering cuts of 28.5% to his budget.

"Under adverse circumstances, we have continued to get things done for the taxpayers of Alabama," he said.

In 2016, Zeigler's wife Jackie won election to the State Board of Education from the seven counties of southwest Alabama's first district, including Crenshaw County. The couple has two children. James "Win" Zeigler has completed the drone pilot certification course at the University of South Alabama. Mary Magdalene "Maggie" Zeigler is a freshman at the University of Alabama.

Zeigler is a retired elder law attorney, formerly representing Veterans and senior citizens in obtaining nursing home benefits.

CHURCH NEWS

PASTOR'S CORNER

Reverend Ken Wilson

Westside Baptist Church

Hometown

I grew up at 823 Canterbury Drive in Bessemer, Alabama, which is located in the central part of the state. Of course, it's not the location but what it means that really matters. I remember Pop (my grandfather) taking us up to the top of the 19th Street hill (we called it the "tippety top"), and he would park the car and point out all the landmarks in Bessemer. The water tower next to the hospital, the steeples on the First Baptist and the First Presbyterian churches, the town clock and the tree growing on top of the reality building.

Pop was proud of Bessemer, although it wasn't his hometown. He was originally from Madisonville, Kentucky, but had made his home in Bessemer as a young man. I guess the old saying that "home is where your heart is" was true for Pop, because his heart was definitely in Bessemer.

As he would show me all the places he considered important, I would feel the pride rise in my spirit. This city was my city, and somehow I knew it would always be a part of who I was.

Elba is like that to many of you. Memories that will never fade away rush at you when cross the Pea river or go past the old High School as walk on the levy. The square reminds you of all of the different businesses that have occupied each building. Time is marked by what was there before the flood and what has been there since. Elba is a part of who you are.

Today when I go back and visit my hometown, I like to go up on 19th street hill and look down over the city again. Many of the people and places have changed, but most of those landmarks are still there. I may not feel like I am a part of that city anymore, but it will always be a part of me.

I wonder if that's how Jesus felt about Nazareth when He said "no prophet is accepted in his hometown." (Luke 4:24) He had to have fond memories of the town where he grew up. There's no doubt that Nazareth shaped a little of who He was as a boy. He probably thought about Nazareth quite often. Perhaps when he cried over Jerusalem Nazareth was on his mind also. That's the great thing about a hometown; it is always just a memory away.

SEACT to present “Big Fish” at Dothan Opera House, March 13-17

SEACT presents Big Fish on the Dothan Opera House stage, March 13-17, as part of Alabama’s bicentennial celebration.

Presented by Home Helpers and based on the celebrated novel by Alabama author Daniel Wallace, Big Fish tells the story of Edward Bloom, a traveling salesman who lives life to its fullest... and then some! Edward’s incredible, larger-than-life stories thrill everyone around him, and most of all, his devoted wife Sandra. But their son Will, about to have a child of his own, is determined to find the truth behind his father’s epic tales.

Overflowing with heart, humor and spectacular stagecraft, Big Fish is an extraordinary Broadway musical that reminds us why we love going to the theatre – for an experience that’s richer, funnier and bigger than life itself. Don’t miss these tall Alabama tales, told by an Alabamian for and about Alabama!

Directed by Mary Helen and Danny Richards. Parental guidance advised for ages 10 and under due to mild language and character peril.

Local UDC members attend district meeting

Members of the Gen. Edmond Winchester Rucker Chapter 2534, United Daughters of the Confederacy ("UDC"), of Enterprise recently attended the General Henry D. Clayton District meeting. The meeting was hosted by the Stonewall Jackson 667 Chapter of Ozark and was held at the Hoppergrass Restaurant in downtown Ozark.

The Clayton District consists of five Chapters: Thomas Randolph Thomasson Chapter 2471, Andalusia; General William C. Oates, 1342, Dothan; Captain Stouten Hubert Dent 2669, Eufaula; as well as the Stonewall Jackson and Rucker Chapters.

The meeting was held Saturday, Feb. 24, at 10 a.m. with registration and fellowship beginning at 9:30. Light refreshments were served as members enjoyed renewing old friendships and meeting new members from other Chapters.

Secretary Brandi Evans read the certificate won by the District at the 2017 Division Convention: Annie Walker Broyles Trophy for the District sending in the best report for work accomplished 2016-2017.

Business for the day consisted of reports from each Chapter President, giving information about their activities since the last District meeting in February 2017. The Chapters have been very busy with many historical, patriotic, benevolent, memorial and educational activities fulfilling the five objectives of the UDC.

Other business included the appointment of a representative to serve on the 10-year Alabama Division History Book Committee. Also officers for the

"There's no better way to improve your farm than by learning from outstanding farmers who have a wealth of experience," said Limestone County's Maples. "This is our largest conference in 25 years, and we're grateful seasoned leaders took time to educate these producers. I took away ideas to incorporate onto our cattle farm and hope the others did, too."

Our little grandson Lawson had his first coach-pitch baseball practice last week and while he got a little bored in the outfield, he did enjoy running the bases and being a part of the team. My little man is a long way from being a major leaguer, but he has fun, and at age seven that is very important.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers continued their early-season struggles last week with losses to Dale County and Red Level. The Tigers battled the 4A Warriors early in the week, but simply didn't have the hitting to keep up, but then late in the week struggled on the mound in a big loss to Red Level as the Tiger hurlers allowed 18 walks and hit five batters. There is no defense for free passes in baseball, and until the Tigers can find more than one pitcher that can at least throw strikes consistently the season could turn into an even bigger struggle.

 The Elba Lady Tigers opened their season with a big 25-0 win over Florala, but then struggled at the plate and in the field in a 12-2 loss to Straughn. The Lady Tigers showed off their speed on the bases in the lopsided win over Florala and got a no-hit performance in the circle from A'Maysia Whitfield, while at Straughn, the Lady Tigers were held their own for two innings before allowing a rash of unearned runs. The girls did show signs of improvement; however, and should have some wins in their future.

 A look around the area found New Brockton beginning to settle down in baseball and Brantley steamrolling all opponents in softball. The Gamecocks rebounded from a couple of early-season losses against quality opponents to hang some wins on the board, while Brantley continued to play well and Kinston and Zion Chapel showed the desire it takes to get better and become winners. Over in softball, Brantley remained undefeated with six straight wins at a tournament in Troy, and unveiled a roster filled with long ball hitters as five different players went deep in the tournament and joined pitcher Leanna Johnson to grab the title. Kinston continued its early-season success with a couple of wins, while Zion Chapel and New Brockton kept on fighting every time they hit the field and no doubt will get their share of wins as the season rolls along.

 In closing... the Alabama high school basketball tournament was on the tube over the weekend and it was fun to watch the state's best teams in action. (7A) Mt. Brook and (6A) Carver were clearly the top teams in the boys side of he tourney, while on the girls side (7A) Spain Park looked really good, and Samson won the 2A title for the second time in three years and the fifth time overall. I still don't like the cave they call a gym in Birmingham, but it is a great event.

In season opener

Lady Tigers flatten Florala 25-0

The Elba Lady Tigers opened their season with a bang last Tuesday night with a 25-0 romp past the Florala Lady Wildcats, in Florala.

Elba's Kira Starks gave the Lady Tigers an early 1-0 lead with an rbi double that knocked in Sandra Lindsey, while Starks scored two pitches later after a combination of a passed ball and a Florala error to push the score to 2-0, and the rout was on as Elba plated nine runs in the top of the first inning to take command.

Elba's McKenzie Hooks added a bases-loaded double to close out the scoring for Elba in the inning, as the Lady Tigers combined two hits with two walks and five hit batters to take command.

A leadoff double by Elba's A'Maysia Whitfield sparked a five-run second inning as the Lady Tigers again took advantage of Florala pitching woes to stretch their lead to 14-0, while the Lady Tigers exploded for 11 run in the top of the third to push their lead to 25-0.

An rbi single by Alyssa Kyles provided a spark early in the inning, while Kyles added a bases-loaded double to drive in four runs in the inning as Elba took advantage of six walks and three Florala errors to blow the game open and rolled to the season opening win on the road.

Alyssa Kyles had 2 hits, scored 4 runs and knocked in 4 runs to lead Elba at the plate, while McKenzie Hooks added 1 hit, scored 2 runs and knocked in 3 runs and Kira Starks added 1 hit, scored 2 runs and collected one rbi. Mone Martin, Kayla Seay and Zada Williams all scored 3 runs, while Sandra Lindsey scored 2 runs and Breanna Sanders scored once.

A'Maysia Whitfield tossed a three-inning no hitter with three strikeouts to get the win inside the circle.

(Junior Varsity)
The Elba Lady Tigers JV dropped their season opener to Florala 13-7. Elba took advantage of three walks and three Florala errors to grab an early 3-0 lead, but also had problems finding the strike zone as its pitchers walked seven batters and hit five batters to allow Florala to pull away and post the win.

Praise Edwards had 1 hit and scored 2 runs to lead Elba at the plate, while Liza Rodriguez also scored 2 runs and Victori Edwards, Hailee Layton and Zhandria Siler all scored one run.

Elba Lady Tigers stumble at Straughn in 12-2 setback

The Elba Lady Tigers held their own early in the game last Thursday night at Straughn, but allowed three unearned runs in the third inning to fall behind and never recovered in a 12-2 road loss.

Elba jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning when McKenzie Hooks delivered a leadoff double and scored one pitch later after a stolen base and a throwing error, and after Straughn pulled ahead in the second, the Lady Tigers pulled back even at 2-2 in the top of the third when Hooks singled with two outs stole second and third, and scored on an infield hit by Sandra Lindsey.

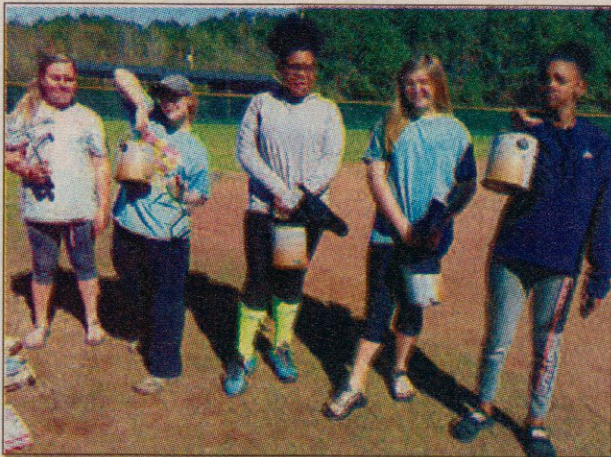

The Lady Tigers failed to put a runner on base over the next two innings; however, and Straughn took advantage of seven Elba errors to plate the game's final 10 runs as the Lady Tigers dropped the 12-2 decision.

McKenzie Hooks had 2 hits and scored 2 runs to lead Elba at the plate and Sandra Lindsey added one hit and one rbi.

(Junior Varsity)
The Elba Lady Tigers JV dropped an 8-0 decision to Straughn, last Thursday night, in Straughn. The Lady Tigers had chances to score after loading the bases in both the second and third innings, but failed to push a run across the plate, while Straughn used a 5-run second inning to take command.

Praise Edwards had two hits to lead Elba at the plate.

CLEAN UP DAY It was clean up day for the members of the Elba Lady Tiger softball team last Saturday as the players and parents helped paint dugouts and get the field ready for this week's season opener.
